Summary:

Don't just teach literature.....be a part of creating a new story at the Indianapolis Metropolitan High School, affiliated with Big Picture™ network of schools.

-  Position Description: The language arts advisor will facilitate learning for students in grades 9-12 using a variety of concepts and methods, including project-based learning, inquiry, manipulatives, technology and differentiated instruction. The language arts advisor will work within an interdisciplinary team to mold the educational experiences of a diverse group of students.
-  Mission: To create schools centered on authentic relationships in addition to relevant and rigorous learning that ensures all students are prepared for life and learning far beyond high school.

Relationships + Relevance + Rigor = Results

Responsibilities Include:

-  Content-specific responsibilities:
 -  Develop secondary language arts lessons designed to push students to a higher level of cognitive reasoning to be taught in isolation as well as within an interdisciplinary theme through collaboration with other grade-level content specialists.
 -  Deliver secondary language arts lessons using a variety of methods that may be taught independently or with a team of other grade-level content specialists designed to guide students toward mastery in language arts content.
 -  Assess secondary language arts lessons both summatively and formatively using traditional and alternative assessment techniques.
 -  Facilitate language arts learning within student projects and internships that are challenging and meet the individual needs, interests and abilities of each student.
 -  Assist students in developing meaningful projects through inquiry and utilization of project-based assessments to demonstrate growth and depth of understanding of concepts.
-  Advisory-based responsibilities:
 -  Build a positive relationship with a small group of students over a four-year period.
 -  Facilitate a small group of students to maximize their educational experience through diverse experiences to include interest-based projects, internships, service-learning projects, college classes, as well as educational experiences offered through the grade-level interdisciplinary team.
 -  Ensure students' development in areas of public speaking and presentation skills for the required student exhibitions.
 -  Ensure students have necessary life skills to succeed in high school and beyond.
 -  Hold students accountable to a high standard both academically and behaviorally.
 -  Possess a valid Indiana driver's license and automobile insurance that allows for the transportation of students.
